ENGLAND.

LONDON, July 3.—The most picturesque canvass for a parliamentary election that has ever been made in England preceded the election of Lord Randolph Churchill, in the borough of Woodstock. His adversary was Corrie Grant, a young lawyer whom the liberals had sent down from London. It was a ladies' battle on both sides. The campaign was begun by Lady Randolph Churchill (nee Jerome) last Saturday evening, by driving a tandem team through the main street of the picturesque old town, with the skill and grace to be expected of the daughter of the founder of Jerome park. The liberals quickly resolved to meet their fair adversary on her own ground, and secured the services of Misses King and Adams, lovely young graduates from Oxford. The delightful canvassidg of the girl graduates soon captured the populace, and the tories began to give way. Lady Churchill lost none of her courage and energy, but she saw something must be done to offset the influence of the pretty girls from Oxford, and summoned reinforcements. She obtained two charming lieutenants, Lady Evely and Lady Edith Curzon, young daughters of the Earl of Howe, and sent them forth to dazzle the electors, and so won the day.

The vital statistics of London show a fearful mortality among insured infants. The books of insurance companies show that the death rate among infants who are insured is much greater than the general death rate for the same ages, as published in the government reports, which include both insured and uninsured infants. The mortality among insured is 50 per cent. greater than that among uninsured. These facts strenghten the suspicion into conviction that many infants are deliberately murdered for the sake of insurance on their lives. Insurance companies which accept risks on infants' lives will insure none but healthy children, and consequently the mortality among them should naturally be less than among the general average of children. Some insurance companies seem to accept the conclusion that child murder is the cause of this anomalous condition of affairs complacently, and only seek to secure their own profits, under the additional risk, by increasing their premiums. A note of alarm has been sounded by the more respectable insurance companies, and by many physicians. It has now been taken up by several medical and legal newspapers, which are imploring parliament to devise some remedy for the growing and horrible crime.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The first half of the year 1885 has been marked by unusual activity in real estate and buildings. The period has been unprecedented, probably, in two particulars of a most promising nature, namely the number of purchases of small building lots by men who have heretofore been content to let their savings lie in banks and in the number of small dwellings built for and by mechanics.

(Per Northern Pacific Railway.)

PORT ARTHUR, June 26.—The polling in West Algoma to-day was carried on in a quiet and most orderly manner. The telegraphic returns are all in, and so far Mr. Conmee, the reform candidate, has 62 majority, with two places, Rainy River and Fort Francis, to hear from, which will probably increase his majority.

NAPANEE, June 26.—Mr. Howley, the reform candidate, was elected for Lennox by 13 majority over T. G. Blackstock, conservative.

ORILLIA, June 26.—Mr. Drury, the reform candidate, was elected for East Simcoe by 140 majority over H. H. Thompson, conservative

In East Kent there was no contest, the reform candidate, Mr. Robert Ferguson, having been returned by acclamation, Mr. David Wilson, the tory candidate, backing out at the eleventh hour.

HAMILTON, June 27.—The boss and journeyman plumbers here have petitioned the council to appoint an inspector of all plumbing works, and to take steps to have plumbers licensed, to protect the public from the effects of poor work.

TORONTO, June 27.—At the criminal assizes Margaret Bennett, who was lately beaten in a $10,000 libel suit against a Toronto paper, was arraigned for perjury committed during the trial for libel, she having sworn that she had a child and then denied it. The crown council neglected to put in evidence to show that the child had not been born, and the prisoner was acquitted. She is in custody on another charge of perjury.

The body of a suicide has been discovered in Rosedale ravine. He had shot himself at the top of the embankment, and his body was tracked to where it was found by a piece of birch bark found on the top of the hill, on which was written to the effect that the deceased intended to commit suicide. The man had been dead four or five days.

An unknown man attacked County Constable Bedley on Bloor street on Wednesday night, and beat him into a state of insensibility and put his handcuffs on him. When found, the officer had almost bled to death. His condition is precarious.

WINGHAM June 27.—A deaf and dumb lad named Duncan McCammon was drowned to day.

THAMESVILLE, June 27.—Syer & Mayhew's safe was blown open this morning and $40 taken from it.

GANANOQUE, June 28.—Mrs. Dr. Fraleigh suicided to day by drowning, and has made away with her baby, which cannot be found, but is supposed to be in the water also. Mental aberration, caused by long watching at the sick bed of the missing child, was the cause.

LONDON, June 26.—Rural Dean Jamieson, of Lambton, and a missionary among the Indians at Walpole Island, died last night from pneumonia.

KINGSTON, June 26.—The captain of a schooner just arrived from Wellington Square, Halton county, where the Scott act is in force, states that the crew went ashore at night and got an abundance of liquor. They got it in three different hotels, whisky in one place being kept in pickle bottles in the pantry.

MANNING'S METHODS.

Falsehood Justified by the Secretary of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Among the throng in Secretary Manning's office yesterday was a clerk who received his dismissal yesterday. "I have called, Mr. Secretary," said he, "to ask you what the charges are against me?" "There are no charges," replied Manning. "You are a Republican and we want your place, that's all there is about it." The clerk withdrew without another word. "I told that man an untruth," said Mr. Manning, when his visitor had departed. "There are charges against him. He is a shiftless and incompetent clerk; he ought to have been discharged years ago. Why didn't I tell him so? Because he would have insisted upon being heard. This would have taken up valuable time that I cannot afford to spare. I used to be honest with these men until I found that they all asked the same question. If I heard their side of the story it would compel me to turn my office into a Court of Appeals and I should have little opportunity to attend to anything else. I make sure the charges are in all cases correct, and then when I am asked for an explanation I tell them what I told this man, that they are Republicans and we want their places. That gives them nothing to cavil about. Such an argument is unanswerable It is a good deal easier for us, and much more satisfactory to them. They go away quietly, and that's the last we ever see of them."

Unanswerable Argument.

Chinese Mandarian: "You Americans are very smart, but you are not consistent."

American Citizen: "In what way?"

"You spend millions of dollars in sending missionaries to us."

"That is true."

"And the object is to fit us for the kingdom of heaven."

"Yes."

"But still you refuse us a residence in the United States. Now, explain that."

"Well, you see we are afraid if you go to our country to live you will get into American politics."

"What of that?"

"That would unfit you for the kingdom of heaven."—Philadelphia Call.

OPERATIONS OF A GANG OF SCOUNDRELS.

Some Interesting Revelations Regarding Them.

MONTREAL, June 28.—Information furnished by the two convicts, Hall and Fox, to the detectives has revealed that the forgers, whose operations have been so successfully carried out, have confederates in America and nearly every country in Europe. Bent, now in prision in Toronto for issuing forged paper on the Bank of Commerce, is the person who successfully passed a large number of counterfeit Bank of England notes here last year, swindling N. E. Sabbee & Co. in this manner out of $12,000, and a French bank out of $5,000. He then proceeded to Halifax, where he was equally successful. His accomplice turns out to be Charles Hendrer, whose exploits in London, Eng., New York and Montreal are well known, and his real name is Woods. He was at one time a member of the London bar, and was sentenced to seven years' penal servitude for forgery. He went to New York and had to flee for defrauding an insurance company there by means of bogus policies He then travelled through New England, representing himself as the agent of a financial house in New York, which was desirous of making loans with farmers and real estate owners. He secured advance deposits of $50 from many parties and disappeared He arrived in Montreal three years ago and carried on the same game with wonderful success for two years, receiving correspondence from all parts of the country. He formed a syndicate, built the Crystal Palace opera house, which he ran for a year with success. About a year ago his swindles were brought to light here, when he cleared out and formed the gang of forgers at Toronto. According to Hall and Fox, the head of the gang is a rich Jew of Vienna, who furnishes the money necessary for putting up the jobs. Their confederates in London obtain the watermarked paper, and the engraving is done in Hamburg and Berlin. Bent is the person who passed many counterfeit Bank of England notes in Chicago in May, 1884 A Toronto despatch to-day says:

"Thomas White and Charles Bent were convicted to day of the charge of uttering forged circular notes of the National Bank of Scotland, and remanded for sentence."

Hall and Fox, it is understood, divulged the names of other members of the gang and the manner in which the watermarked paper was prepared and bleached and then executed. This may lead to the arrest of other members of the gang.

NO INJURIOUS effects can follow the use of Ayer's Ague Cure in the treatment of malarial diseases. It contains, besides a specific and unfailing antidote for miasmatic poison, other remedial agents which unite to expel the poisonous humors, purify the system, and leave it in a healthy and invigorated condition. dw

IN no other medicinal preparation have the results of the most intelligent study and scientific inquiry been so steadily and progressively utilized as in Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases. dw

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Possesses the greatest possible power to heal and control affections of the throat and lungs, with absolute safety for children or adults. The experience of years has proven it to be of inestimable value as a household medicine, and for professional use. Thousands of physicians and families testify to its great worth. Jas. E. Moling, Hilliard, Ohio, writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for twelve years, and have found that, as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, or Sore Throats, it

Is Unequaled.

J. I. Miller, editor of the "Lutheran Home," Luray, Va., writes: "I advertise nothing that I do not know to be good. I was saved from the grave, I am sure, by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and have recommended it to others with the happiest results." L. J. Addison, M. D., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I have never found, in thirty-five years of continuous study and practice in medicine, any preparation of so great value as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for treatment of diseases of the throat and lungs; and I constantly recommend it to my patients. It not only breaks up colds and cures severe coughs, but is effective in relieving the most serious bronchial and pulmonary affections."

John J. Uhlman, Brooklyn, N.S., writes: "Twelve years ago, I was afflicted with a severe bronchial trouble, pronounced by a skilful physician to be very dangerous, and liable to terminate in Pneumonia. After using one bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I found great relief, and an occasional use of it since that time has, I think, extended my life ten years at least." Mrs. V. M. Thebaud, Montreal, Canada, writes: "Last spring my daughter was attacked by membranous croup, or diphtheria. The doctor prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which cured her of the diphtheria. Being still very weak and sick, she began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which restored her to vigorous health."

L. P. FISHER, Advertising Agent, 21 Merchants Exchange, San Francisco, is authorised to receive advertisements for the columns of this paper.

THE CANADIAN MILITIA DEPARTMENT.

Discussing the rebellion in the North-West the Pictorial World, London, Eng., of June 4th, makes the following complimentary reference to the way in which the North-West rebellion was quelled:—

"At home we cannot avoid contrasting the ability and swift competency in emergency which has been displayed, not only by the Canadian militia, but by the War Department of the Dominion in crushing this rebellion with the imbecility and feebleness with which our generals and War Office have done much of their work in Egypt. General Middleton had a far "heavier contract," as the Americans would say, on hand, when he undertook to smash Riel and his Indian allies in the Arctic wastes of the North-West than had Graham when he went forth to smash Osman Digma. Riel and the half-breeds were not naked savages, armed with nothing more formidable than spear and shield. The Indian allies, who fought as savagely as the half-breeds, were more formidable with their rifles in their hands than the Soudanese. Yet from beginning to end of his career he has gone on unhasting and unresting from victory to victory. There have been no hitches, no bungling, no break downs of transports, no failure of organization. In fifteen days Mr. Caron, the Minister of Militia, called to arms 4,000 volunteers, with 400 horses. He furnished them with everything needful to complete their equipment and transport for marching to the seat of war, 2,000 miles distant. He pushed forward three columns from widely separated points to places hundreds of miles from the railway. He kept them adequately supplied with food and ammunition, and covered so immense a frontier with such a rapidity that, after the troops got to the scene of action, the rebels were only able to strike scattered or isolated families of settlers. All this was done at a season of the year when the climate of Canada is worse than that of Siberia in winter, and it was done on a sudden and with troops that have not been called to arms since 1870.

"Let us frankly admit that such competent administration as this feat discloses ought to put the generals and the administrators of our regular army to shame. Let us say it raises the military prestige of Canada in the world to a height that we may well envy. Even in the United States much is admitted, and the Detroit News, in generousiy congratulating ourcountrymen on their success, says they have performed a feat of which any military nation in world may be proud.

"These boys, gathered from the shops, offices, and farms of Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba, traversed a country much more difficult than the British would have been compelled to cover between Pishin and Herat. Moreover, they met, fought, and beat an enemy much more formidable than either Afghans or Turcomans. The question which is now being put is this:—What mark of Imperial approval or congratulation has been given to the War Minister who organized, and the officers and men who won these victories for the Dominion? As yet the Queen and the Queen's Government have contemptuously treated these militiamen of the Dominion who have given the Imperial military authorities a lesson in the art of war which it would be well for England if they would take seriously to heart."

ENDING OF THE NOTHWEST REBELLION.

The welcome dispatch that the North-west rebellion is at an end is received with a sense of relief; after months of a severe struggle with the determined renegades they have been forced into subjection at a cost of about $2,000,000 to the Dominion government. The capture of Big Bear virtually brings an end to hostilities, for the present at least, if not for all time to come. While all honor is due the loyal volunteers who offered their services and lives for the protection of homes and government, not too much praise can be given the gallant General Middleton, who so bravely led his men at Fish creek and Batoche. There is not a mother, wife or sister of the brave men in that memorable skirmish line who will not fail to thank General Middleton for the safe return of their loved ones. The important details devolved on a general officer are hardly appreciated by those not in actual service. Every vantage gained or point won from the enemy is due to the perfectly matured plans of the one master-mind that guides the fate of an army. General Middleton, amid all the great mental and physical exertion of his campaign, was ever on the alert for the safety and comfort of his men, and not a hardship did they endure that was not shared by him. At Fish creek even in the excitement of battle, he was frequently seen to pause, and bending over the stretcher upon which some poor wounded soldier lay gave a kindly word of cheer and sympathy that must have alleviated half the pain. The same thing might be said at Batoche; during those four trying days in which a splendid struggle for mastery was waged almost incessantly. Notwithstanding his own fatigue he visited regularly the hospital tents and personally cared for the sick and wounded. It was his policy to save his men if he could by slow, sure work, rather than sacrifice them in a rash or hasty charge. The history of the Northwest rebellion will go to posterity as an important epoch in the lives of those who lived in the Dominion of Canada; but in those annals will be recorded the gallant deeds of General Middleton and the brave men who risked their lives in the service of their country.

COSTLY SINECURE.

A lively row is expected to be provoked when the supply bill comes up in the imperial house of commons by a concerted attack that is to be made on the offices of the first lord of the treasury and lord keeper of the privy seal. These offices are now filled by Sir Stafford Northcote and the Earl of Harrowby. The radicals, who propose to abolish the offices, disclaim any personal hostility towards those gentlemen, but say that the berths are gigantic sinecures, which cost $50,000 a year, without the slightest equivalent to the country. Mr. Edward Heneage, the radical member for Great Grimsby, has give notice of a motion to strike the salaries out of the supply bill, and the motion will be supported by all the radicals and by many of the whigs.

VICTORIA AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE.

Every effort should be strained to make Victoria a great manufacturing centre. The nucleus for such already exists in the iron and stove foundries, the boot and shoe, furniture, cigar and cigar box and match factories, the tanneries, the printing offices, the lithographic establishment, the sash, blind and door and soap factories, the brick and stone yards, the breweries, the saw-mills, and, latest but not least, the rice-cleaning industry. There is room for more industries not now represented here. A sugar refinery, a woolen mill, a paper mill, a clothing factory, would each and all absorb a large amount of capital and employ a great deal of labor. People who talk of Victoria being undersold by eastern manufacturers when the railroad is through, forget the important item of freight, which crops up a barrier whenever the question is discussed. All things that this soil produces might be made into a mearchantable form at Victoria and eastern competition defied. Not alone should Victoria manufacturers aim to supply British Columbia wants. Their contiguity with the Northwest should enable them to supply that vast section as well. Victoria has a commercial future; but her sheet-anchor will be manufactories.

BURNABY'S BOOK.

Col. Fred Burnaby, who was killed at the battle of Abu Klea last January, left the complete manuscript of a political novel, which his executors have finally determined to publish. The work contains fierce and merciless criticisms upon certain of the author's political adversaries, and its bitter arraignment of the liberal policy in Egypt has an additional sting now that its author has been killed in one of the useless battles caused by that policy. The removal of the liberals from power is said to have caused the executors to decide upon the publication of the book, which is sure to cause both a political and a literary sensation.

THE HECLA.

A Floating Depot of Torpedoes.

It has been announced that the Admiralty are about to get together a squadron of our representative ships of war, and that some fifteen or twenty of our finest vessels may be expected to take part in a sort of demonstration early next month. It would be an exceedingly interesting event, to say the least of it, the ships that have been named are likely to take part in the business comprising some of the most stupendious engines of destruction the world has ever seen, and at the same time some of the most original and singular craft that inventive genius has ever contrived. No such fleet as that which has been publicly indicated has, we suppose, ever been got together, and the manœuvring of it would probably be watched with an interest second only to that which would attach to an actual naval engagement, notwithstanding that it pleases some of our patriots to speak of the proposed gathering as a mere motley throng of the rag tag and bobtail of the seas.

Of the many vessels named, in some respects the most interesting would be the Hecla. She would take no very prominent part in any exercises probably. She is not so much a fighting ship as a depot for fighting ships. She was originally a merchant vessel, and was purchased by our government and converted into a torpedo ship. She is a torpedo ship in a very special sense. She has her own ports for the dispatch of Whiteheads on her own account; she has extensive workshops for the repair of all kinds of torpedo mechanism and appliances, and she has on board of her a large flotilla of swift second-class torpedo boats—torpedo boats, that is, that are not capable of maintaining an independent existence at sea, but are necessarily attached to some larger vessel. In any naval engagement the Hecla could not only on occasion hurl out her own deadly missles, but could send out a whole brood of these ugly ducklings, who have every capacity of independent action while afloat, but who, having done their spiteful work, would make for the parent ship and be haulded on board. These are second class torpedo boats as distinct from the first-class, which are small sea-going vessels that may on a pinch make long voyages by themselves. One of them a short time since went to Australia by itself. Of the second-class torpedo launches the Hecla has several, and what with these and her own boats this fine ship has the appearance of being quite a fleet in herself. She is among the longest ships in the British navy, her length being over 390 feet, and from end to end of her she is full of deadly stores for the supply of the fleet to which she is attached, or of deadly engines for her own independent use. Apart from her torpedoes, however, her armament is nothing very great in these times. She has five or six 64 pounders, beautiful-looking guns, bright as new pins—as, indeed, everything is about the ship—but of no great power. Among the curiosities of her defences is the protection of her cylinders and boilers by her coal bunkers, packed full of coal, with thin iron plates intervening. This is an ingenious adaptation of merchantman structure to purposes of defence. Engines and boilers in all fighting ships built for fighting are placed low down out of the way. The Hecla's, on the contrary, are high up in the ship. The hull of the vessel is divided into seven water-tight compartments, so that it would probably take several holes in her bottom to sink her, and she has the further protection of a torpedo net extending around her at the end of booms. She is an iron ship, and has two iron decks.—London, Standard, May 28th.

THE NORTHWEST.

A Tale of Suffering and Horror.

Big Bear Still on the Wing.

A correspondent of Le Manitoba gives an account of the sufferings of the family of the late Joseph Tourond, resulting from the battles of Fish Creek and Batoche. The writer states that Joseph Tourond removed three years ago with his wife and eight children from the parish of St. Francois-Xavier to Fish Creek, where he built a beautiful residence and where he resided until the beginning of last year, when his death occurred. One of his sons followed him shortly afterwards to the tomb, leaving Madame Tourond with a family composed of five boys and two girls, aged respectively 18 and 20 years. When General Middleton's army arrived the house was attacked with cannon, and the Tourond brothers, in the hope of saving their property joined the little band of insurgents commanded by Dumont, and fought as best they could. During this time the two young girls fearing for their lives and yielding only to their fright, escaped with one Miss Gervais, carrying in their arms two young children. Almost without clothing they gained the woods and disappeared to be found no more. Without doubt they perished with cold and hunger. After the battle of Fish Creek, the Tourounds retreated to Batoche. Two of the sons fell upon the field of battle; a third was dangerously wounded; and the remaining two are now prisoners at Regina. The mother is now alone, without a dwelling, without the means of subsistence, and without even the support of the children who have survived so many misfortunes.

The correspondent who writes from Batoche, further states that there are several families there, who, without having been tried as greatly as the Tourounds, are nevertheless reduced to the most profound wretchedness.

SICKNESS PREVALENT—MIDDLETON INTERVIEWED—GIVES NO SATISFACTION REGARDING THE RETURN.

FORT PITT, June 24, VIA STRAUBENZIE, June 26.—All the talk now among the troops is of the return, the long delay causing serious loss or ruin to both officers and privates, many losing situations, amongst whom are Majors Boulton and Buchan, on the judicial board.

Private transport is impossible to be obtained.

General Middleton, when seen, gives no satisfaction. He is greatly blamed by all for the delay. Colonel Williams and other officers remonstrated with him without effect. I interviewed General Middleton this morning, and asked him what day the troops would start. He replied that he would have to await Strang's arrival, also the troops from Edmonton. We could not start home for a week at least, and it might be much longer. Everyone is indignant, and attribute the delay to Middleton's obstinacy.

Our camping ground is very bad. It was formerly occupied many weeks by Indians, and consequently is very filthy.

Prickly heat has broken out amongst the officers and men, and sickness is prevalent.

RETURN OF WOUNDED.

CLARKE'S CROSSING, June 26.—Lieut. Hellhwell, Sergeant Christie, Corporal Wrighton, Corporal Helliwell and Private Downer, all of the Midland Battalion, wounded at Batoche, have left the hospital at Saskatoon by trail for Winnipeg via Moosejaw. They expect to reach the latter place by Saturday night. Arrangements are now being made to take the remainder of the wounded, eighteen in number, by boat to Winnipeg.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

Rumors of a Fusion of the Grand Trunk and C. P. R.

The Significance of Sir Henry Tyler's Visits.

ST. PAUL, June 28.—A Toronto special to the Pioneer Press says: Notwithstanding Sir Henry Tyler's repeated denials, rumors are again current that the Grand Trunk is to assume control of the Canadian Pacific. Sir Henry's presence, if anything, gives credence to these rumors. The Grand Trunk's president, since his arrival in Canada, has been assiduously inspecting the Canadian Pacific and its branches. Since the Canadian Pacific opened its line from the west to Montreal, last spring, it has been cutting rates as much as was consistent with the agreement it had with the Grand Trunk for east-bound freight, and no sooner had navigation opened and connection made between Port Arthur and Owen Sound than they notified the Grand Trunk that they would no longer adhere to the agreement and would consider themselves at liberty to make rates as they pleased. The business of the Grand Trunk since the opening of the Ontario division of the Canadian Pacific has been greatly reduced, and as a fierce war of rates to all points in competition is now raging between these two roads, it is evident that the only way out of the difficulty is to come to some amicable arrangement. This, it is said, is the principal object of Sir Henry Tyler's visits. Every smaller Canadian railway has, during the past few years, been gobbled up by either the Canadian Pacific or Grand Trunk railways, and now these two conspirators stand alone in bidding for the business of the country. Each has a strong motive to induce it to enter into an amalgamation or a fusion scheme. The Canadian Pacific has a sure monopoly of the Canadian Northwest for years to come, and the only way for the Grand Trunk to get any of the trade in that part of the country is by amalgamating with the former. On the other hand the inducement for the Canadian Pacific to enter into such a scheme is almost as great, for by such an arrangement it could get connection with the New England States by the existing Grand Trunk lines. If these two roads amalgamate, and the consummation of this scheme is, no doubt, only a question of time, they will form one of the most formidable railway monoplies in the world.

YESTERDAY'S DISPATCHES.

The Gladstone Policy to be Continued.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, July 6.—In the house of lords this afternoon Lord Salisbury made a statement to the effect that he would continue the policy adopted by Gladstone in regard to negotiations with Russia for the settlement of the frontier of Afghanistan. Salisbury, in moving the adjournment of the house, said it would be convenient to explain the condition of one or two important questions, which greatly affected foreign affairs and the position of England in matters of the gravest importance. In regard to the recent negotiations with Russia in reference to the frontier of Afghanistan, the business of the government was not to consider or comment on the past; it was their business to take the policy of their predecessors and conduct it to an issue consistent with the public interest. It was not their business to enter on any controversy regarding that policy. It must be observed that there were very clear restrictions upon the action of the present government, arising from the fact that they had assumed office at a time when certain matters were drawing near, the result being that many pledges were given, and the first duty of any government was to see that the pledges which an English government had given should be observed.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily News says the convention with Russia was already prepared when Gladstone resigned, therefore it only requires Salisbury's signature.

LONDON, July 6.—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon devotes five pages of its space to showing that trade in young girls for immoral purposes has increased alarmingly in late years. It claims that the growth in this traffic is due to the utter worthlessness of the law in relation to the matter. The names of several wealthy men, holding prominent positions in society, are mentioned in connection with the business. The Gazette states that it yet has details of a large number of other cases, which were omitted to day owing to lack of space, but that they will be given to the public in the course of a few days.

RUSSIA.

LONDON, July 6.—A St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily News says that trophies from the Puhkhuski battle have arrived at Askabad. They include eight guns, bearing the English arms, dated 1836.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

Marine Disasters—Great Fires.

North Borneans Attack and Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—Steamer Oceanic arrived to-day with Hongkong dates of June 9th and Yokohama of the 19th.

The American bark B. F. Watson, Capt. Hawkins, from New York with 35,000 cases of kerosene, to Bankok, caught fire at the latter place on May 18th, and was burned to the water's edge. The cargo was fully and the ship partly insured.

A fire on May 14th destroyed the saw mill of Grassy Brothers, and other property estimated at $200,000, also a number of lives were lost. Nine bodies have been recovered and more are believed to have been concealed in the debris.

The conflagration which occurred on the 20th of May at Toyama, Japan, was exceptional in its magnitude, destroying 5,917 houses. No estimate of the loss is given.

A letter from a North Borneo government official dated Landakas, May 15th, states that a sudden attack was made upon the North Borneo Commercial company's expedition to the west coast of Borneo by eight natives at Kowan, May 13th. They killed Dr. Fraser and four East Indians and dangerously wounded the commander of the expedition, Capt. Defontain, and S. W. Little and seven Sikhs.

The steamer Glenmorganshire, Capt. Williams, while entering the harbor of Kobe, Japan, to complete loading her cargo of tea for New York, was struck on the port side abaft the bridge, by the American ship Clarissa B. Carver, staving in the after compartment, which filled with water and made it necessary to beach the steamer and discharge her cargo. The Clarissia B. Carver sunk in 35 minutes after the collision.

Associated press private advices state that the Japanese government has announced the resumption of specie payment to take place on January 1st, 1886.

This year's tea crop will be equal in quantity and quality to last year's.

The court of inquiry by the British consul at Kobe, exonorated the officers of the British steamer Glenmorganshire from blame on account of the collision with the American ship Clarissa B. Carver.

The cable connecting Port Hamilton with Hongkong has been laid.

What Some People Say.

That J. B. McArthur, Q.C., who is to defend Jackson, Riel's private secretary, has received a long letter from the young man's father at Prince Albert, in which he states that "Willie received such cruel treatment at the hands of Riel that his mind is quite unhinged and he is sinking into idiocy."

That a rambler has discovered in Sussex, England, fair stretches of unspoilt country where everything retains a primitiveness which can hardly be believed unless seen. For instance, within a couple of miles of Easbourne as the crow flies, oxen may be descried at work dragging ploughs which have not altered since the days of the Saxons, and shepherds tending their flocks with crook.

That the "Seaside," the latest and most beautiful style, is just the thing for children, made only by Hall & Lowe, photographers, over Victoria House, Government street. *

That an editor in a large French town recently published this notice: "The wine merchant who sold me last week a bottle of lemonade flavored with vitrol for a bottle of champagne is requested to send me, within twenty-four hours, a bottle of genuine champagne, failing which his name and address will be made public." The result was that he received unlimited contributions of first class wine forthwith.

That a wonderful fish is becoming numerous in Goose lake, Oregon. It has the power to fill itself with air until it becomes very much like a round ball. Of evenings about sundown they may be seen on the surface of the water. They will swell up by taking in the air, and the wind will blow them over the lake. They reflect all the colors of the rainbow, and when sporting over the lake are a grand sight.

That in Russia the population is so widely spread over the vast steppes and plains that there are but eleven cities that have a population of over 50,000 inhabitants. St. Petersburg has 860,000 by the census of 1884. Moscow has 750,000; Odessa, 150,000, and Kishinev, 130,000; Saratov contains 96,000 inhabitants; Kiev 76,000; Nikolaiev 75,000; Koran 60,000, while Samara and Cronstadt rise but little above 50,000.

That the Times continues to advertise the notorious suburban brothel which all other Victoria newspapers have shut out of their columns. The occasion of the international base ball match at Beacon Hill is seized on as an opportunity to invite the players and spectators to a "free lunch" which they are advised "don't fail to attend." Is it any wonder that the voices of the 5 cent bawlers are no longer heard on the streets !

That rats and mice were long the scourge of Hawaiian farmers, but they have been successfully dealt with by the introduction of the mongoose. Thirty-six pairs of this animal were imported from Jamaica two years ago into the district of Hilo, with the result of instantly clearing 4,000 acres of cane of the nuisance. One planter estimates his saving from this cause last year at $50,000.

Celebrating the Fourth.

On Saturday evening a man known in police circles as Klahaya Bill, otherwise William Cadman, became gloriously drunk over celebrating the glorious 4th. Procuring a keg of gunpowder, he laid it in line for about forty feet on Store street, with an extra quantity at one end. He ignited the explosive, which threw him several feet into the air, tearing his clothes from his body and burning him in a most horrible manner, disfiguring him for life. Two girls who were near the explosion were also seriously burned, as was also a man who tried to save them. Two men who were passing at the time were slightly burned. Cadman was taken to the Royal Hospital, where his wounds were dressed, and yesterday he was progressing favorably. He is an individual who is suspected of selling liquor to Indians, and generally demoralizes by his presence the whole community in which he lives. He raised a bigger racket this time than he bargained for, and there is very little sympathy wasted on him. One of the girls injured is a daughter of Mr. Geo. Vienna.

Marine.

The steamer Barnard Castle passed north yesterday with 1500 rails destined for the Esquimalt and Nanaimo railway.

The bark Martha was towed to Port Discovery on Sunday by the Holyoke to load lumber for Australia.

Steamer Ancon arrived from Portland yesterday, and will sail for the Alaska to-morrow.

Steamer G. W. Elder sailed at 12.10 yesterday for San Francisco.

The New School Trustee.

At a meeting of the electors for Johnson street ward school district yesterday Mr. H. F. Heisterman was nominated by Mr. R. Finlayson, and Mr. W. Denny; there being no opposition Mr. Heisterman was declared duly elected school trustee for the ensuing year.

This election comes under the new act which provides that a school trustee shall be elected for one year on the third Monday of June, and was made necessary by the resignation of Mr. Chambers.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—Mr. L. J. Cross, manager, will return on the Queen of the Pacific to-morrow with a first class company. The new temple of Thespis will open Thursday evening.

COURT OF REVISION.—The court of revision, to hear the appeals from real estate assessments, will sit this morning at eleven o'clock.

WOMENS CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.

Second Annual Meeting--Reading of the Reports.

The second annual meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held last evening in the Pandora street hall. The platform was made beautiful with boquets of lovely flowers, while the mottos and pictures of the various societies were hung above. There were on the platform the president, Mrs. D. McNaughton; Mrs. C. Fraser, vice-president of the R. E. church temperance society; Mrs. D. Jenkins, secretary; Mrs. J. C. Flett, superintendent of the First Presbyterian church branch; Mesdames Sargison, Humber and others, and members of the choir. In the large audience were the pastors of various churches and many heads of families.

A few minutes after eight the meeting was called to order by the president, who first gave them welcome for their presence, and then gave out the coronation hymn—"All hail the power of Jesus name," which was heartily sung.

Mrs Fraser read two portions of scripture, after which Rev. Greaves offered prayer for success achieved and for continued blessing on the work.

The president in her opening remarks, referred to the success that had been given them during the past year. They had met with much encouragement and some defeats. Each superintendent would read her report, and while they had gained no decided victory, yet the sentiment in favor of prohibition was growing. Two years ago they had first formed the temperance union, and at that time there was very little being done in favor of temperance. Col. Hawkins had unfurled the blue banner, and shortly after his visit Miss Willard started the present organization. Her's was a name they would always love. The president referred to the Good Templars, Blue Ribbon and other temperance societies, some in connection with the churches. There were many of these throughout the province, and it could be readily seen the rapid strides that temperance had made. Five years ago a temperance sermon could not be heard in the churches, while now warnings were heard on every hand. The liquor traffic went constantly on night and day, and with it all the unrighteousness that accompanies it. Many wondered what work they had done; how much they themselves could not tell; some souls may have been saved, and if it was only in the distributing of tracts a good work had been accomplished. They had received great encouragement and help from the clergy, and from mothers, yet they would feel their hearts gladdened in the work if more mothers would lend their presence to the meetings. In going round in the tract distributing she had seen many things in the saloons that showed a very sorrowful state of affairs. They say there is no gambling going on in the city, but she had seen the dollars, the drink, the cards, the men, and if any one wished to see them gambling they could on any Sunday by visiting the saloons. On one occasion they had been refused admittance to a saloon by the proprietor and while they were talking with him several young men came up and asked for their books. A policeman who was standing near looked rather guilty, and one of the young men said "Give him one; he needs it about as bad as any one." It was strange that policemen who were dodging in and out of these places did not see the gambling. It almost looked as though they were leagued hand-in-hand with the saloonkeepers in the most nefarious practice of gambling. There was evidently a need of reform. They had met with two defeats, one in not securing a Sunday law from the legislature, which body seemed about as powerless as themselves in the matter; the other was in not securing the franchise to women. However, they were not beaten and would again try and secure both measures.

The choir was then called on and very sweetly sang "Are you coming home to-night?"

The recording secretary, Mrs. H. Jenkins, then read the annual report, which went variously over the work accomplished during the year, and showed that the different committees had been most devoted in their efforts to stay the progress of drink's doings. The membership for the year was 137 against 203 last year. This was accounted for by the formation of the young ladies' branch, and was not a sign of decrease. The report was a very exhaustive one and proved that much good work had been accomplished.

Miss Borthwick and Mr. Gribble sang a very pretty duet, "A Summer Night," with pleasing voice, and were well received.

The treasurer's report was then read, which showed that the total receipts were $683.47, with a balance on hand of $42.99.

The superintendent of hospital's report gave a good account of the work done there. A religious service had been instituted and held regularly during the year, kind words spoken and tracts distributed to the patients.

The report of the superintendent of gaol work, Mrs. D. Spencer, was read, showing the work done in Victoria gaol. Gospel services had been held every Sunday afternoon during the year, the average attendance being 35, while 40 had signed the pledge. In nearly all cases where prisoners were questioned as to the cause that led to their imprisonment, it was laid to the use of intoxicants.

The superintendent of the Young Women's association, Mrs. Spofford, read the annual report of that society. This proved that the young ladies had been most active in temperance work during the year, and with good success. The membership had increased from 7 to 100, while 136 had signed the pledge, making 236 altogether.

The superintendent of hygienic instruction in public schools read a report, referring to the fact that the department had been anticipated by lessons on the subject in Gage's readers. A prize had been offered for the best essay on "Alcohol," and temperance literature distributed. It was felt that this subject should be given more attention in the education of the young.

Mrs. M. Humber read the annual report of the Band of Hope, which had grown and prospered during the past year.

Miss Annie Robertson then read the essay on "alcohol," for which she obtained the prize at the public school, offered by the W. C. T. U. This paper was most excellent in its thoughts, and clearly read by the young lady.

The president then stated that this closed the exercises of the evening. She trusted that more mothers would come out and help them in their great work. She would tender the thanks of the society to all who had in any way assisted them in their work, the clergy, the choir and various other gentlemen who had given their time and advice.

The Rev. Dr. Greaves was asked to say a few words and quoted an incident where a railroad engineer had stated in a temperance meeting that the Bible said, "No drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven." That was reason enough for the engineer, and the speaker thought that that should be the stand taken by all temperance workers and christian churches. Prohibition had been a success in the States, though the contrary had been asserted. He had seen its workings in Kansas, Iowa and Maine and could witness to its great effect in heightening morality, and stamping out intemperance. He was sure that victory would at last crown the efforts of the workers for prohibition though there would be many discouragements to contend with before that object was attained.

During the evening Mrs. Clyde sang a solo very prettily, while Master Jewell recited "Ye olden time and now" in a way that brought a first class collection, which was immediately taken up.

The proceedings of the evening were most interesting, the president speaking in a quiet, convincing way, while the various reports read demonstrated the fact that the ladies of the society were thoroughly practical, fully in earnest and fearless in the prosecution of their duties.

The meeting was brought to a close by singing the temperance doxology, Rev. Mr. Barss pronouncing the benediction.

The annual election of officers will be held on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock when a full attendance of members is requested.

Our Local Artist.

Miss Withrow, the talented young artist, who has been residing in Victoria for the past couple of years, and given good proof of careful and devoted study, left yesterday for San Francisco, to spend a couple of months under the guidance of art masters there. Miss Withrow's success in her efforts is very praiseworthy, having never had the advantage of metropolitan study or that acquaintance with other artists which is of such great advantage in attaining perfect knowledge. She has been the teacher of a large class here, many of whom have made excellent progress in their studies in art, and who will no doubt greatly benefit by their teacher's visit to San Francisco. Miss Withrow's latest work is that of the scenery reaching to the shore of the straits from an eminence at Regent park, the straits and shore line and Mount Baker with its satellites in the distance. The landscape is the exact counterpart of nature and very pleasing, as are the straits, San Juan Island and the low lying mountains on the opposite shore. The only defect is in the coloring of the sky, which is apparently of too light a nature. The picture, as a whole, is a most pleasing one, and shows that the artist, by contact with experienced instructors, will advance to a high degree of perfection.

HARD AT WORK.—The hearts of the Johnson street ward representatives are made glad every time they pass through that section. New sidewalks are being laid, old ones repaired, jumbo is at work, the rock crusher and steam drills are opening hitherto impassable streets, while drains are being cleaned and other minor improvements going on. There are no more sarcastic remarks at the council board now about putting sidewalks around cow pastures, or devoting all the revenue to that ward, though its energetic representatives every once in a while will state most seriously that such and such work is absolutely necessary for the welfare and safety of their constituents. Work at the sittings of the city fathers resembles more the gathering of a happy family than the deliberations of the city sages. Council meets to-morrow evening.

THE PILOT'S TRIAL TRIP.—The new compound engines for the steamer Pilot are ready to be placed in position, and in a few days a trial trip will be made. With her improvements the pilot will be one of the strongest tow boats on the North Pacific coast. The engines are the largest ever erected in this part of the country, having a high pressure cylinder of 24 inches, with low pressure 46, and 28 stroke. It is expected that she will make 12 knots an hour and indicate 250 horse-power. Great difficulty is experienced in turning the large tow boats in the harbor, and to obviate this it is proposed to add an improved steering appliance.

UNDER THE WEATHER.—Mr. John Carney, who was formerly purser on the steamer Gussie Telfair, and well known and popular with old residents here, is lying dangerously ill in Portland. He abandoned steamboating some years ago, and has been railroading on the O. R. & N. and Northern Pacific railways. Six weeks ago he was appointed agent of the latter road at Portland. He is suffering from enlargement of the heart and a complication of diseases.

REMOVED.—The buildings on the lot, corner of Broughton and Government streets, are being removed, preparatory to commencing the erection of the hotel previously referred to. The residence lately occupied by Dr. Milne and the two-story building adjoining it, will be moved to Humboldt street, while the remainder will be torn down.

BUSH FIRES.—An extensive bush fire is raging on the new road from Prospect Lake to South Saanich, having started on Thursday evening last. A large culvert has already been burned, and the farmers are in great fear lest their fences and crops will succumb to the fiery element.

STEAMER MAUDE.—The new compound engine for the C. P. N. Co.'s steamer Maude is ready to be placed in position. It is a very fine piece of work, having a high pressure cylinder 9 inches in diameter, and low pressure of 18 inches with a 20-inch stroke. The boiler is of steel 125 pounds pressure.

THE steamer Evangel arrived yesterday afternoon from Seattle, with no freight and a small passenger list. She is now under command of Harry Lott, formerly of the steamer Hope, Capt. Beecher having assumed his position as collector of customs at Port Townsend. She left in the afternoon for the islands.

P. O HOME DONATIONS FOR JUNE.—Mr. Andean, milk and cherries; Harding, bread; Mrs. Nelson, clothing; Mr. Dupont, cutting children's hair; Mrs. A. A. Green, clothing; Mrs. D. Ross, greens and vinegar.

NEW STEAMER.—Messrs. Pike and Payne, ranchers on an island near Nanaimo yesterday left an order with the Albion Iron Works for an engine to be placed in a new steamer being built to carry produce to this market.

THE iron work for the New Westminster jail is about completed and will be shipped to its destination next week.

Twilight Pleasures.

There was an unusually large number of small boats on the harbor last evening, and in the dull, uncertain gloom of twilight, they betokened to those on shore what delightful facilities for pleasure are afforded by the placid waters of Victoria. It is doubtful if a more secluded and perfect sheet of water for aquatic sport can be found on the coast; surrounded as it is by undulating hills and lofty, snow-capped mountains that rise sheer up to the height of so many thousand feet. These long summer evenings are particularly inviting on the harbor and there is an indescribable delight found in a trip to the Gorge, the outer-harbor or Esquimalt. It is estimated that fifty boats containing parties of pleasure-seekers were out last evening sailing listlessly along the water while the echo of songs reverberated shoreward. Occasionally a fleet of Indian canoes would appear around some point of rocks on their way home from a fishing excursion; then at intervals the single sculls or four-oar gigs would glide rapidly by, and joyous shouts were heard from members of the fair sex who vied with each other in their efforts to row a boat just like a "jack tar," you know. Though isolated from the mainland, there is more joy in our banishment than we could ever hope to gain where nature has been less lavish in bestowing her charms both on sea and land.

A Deplorable Affair.

One of the gay married men who recently put the "silver streak" of Puget Sound between him and his numerous creditors left a wife and four children of tender age in a condition of absolute destitution behind him. Not satisfied with deserting his penniless family the infatuated man actually mortgaged all the household furniture to obtain funds for the gratification of his wicked tastes. Yesterday morning the poor, deceived wife found herself in danger of being turned out of house and home and the very beds on which she and her children reposed, sold from under them. Kind hearted neighbors came to the rescue and a subscription list was started and some generous contributions obtained. The collections will be continued to-day and it is hoped a sufficient sum will be realized to pay off the mortgage and place the distressed lady in a state of comparative independence.

THE DREDGER.—The government dredger has at last moved, and is now anchored opposite Sayward's mill. Since spring it has been engaged in the attempt to get to Australia by a short route, but has evidently become discouraged with the prospect of getting through this country. The appropriation by the government is not a large one, and an infinitely greater amount of work could be done in less time if a less antiquated machine was employed. One with a large shovel, that would bring up a couple of yards of deposit at a time, is the style that should be in use, instead of the little buckets that raise a few stones and a little earth each.

THE BRICKYARD TROUBLE.—Mr. M. Connolly, believing that possession is nine points of the law, continues to hold the fort at the brickyard, and will start the full force to-day, making bricks for the drydock. In the meantime threats of legal proceedings are made by the other side, and both parties are marshaling their forces for a fierce onslaught.

REV. A. P. GRAVES, D. D., the popular Evangelist, addressed a large audience in Temperance Hall Sunday morning, and the Y. M. C. A. rooms were crowded in the afternoon, when he spoke eloquently. The Y. M. C. A. have invited Dr. Graves to deliver a series of addresses under their auspices on his return from the north.

THE partnership heretofore existing between C. D. Rand and R. Lipsett as Real Estate Brokers has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. R. Lipsett will continue the business of Real Estate Broker.

COLUMBIA RIVER PACK.—Only 15 out of 21 canneries on Columbia river are running. Some of the largest have been shut down since last fall. The run so far has been very light and unless there should be a large run during July the local pack will not exceed 250,000 cases.

THE hackmen had a rich harvest on Saturday and a second crop on Sunday. Not a single hack or carriage could be hired on Sunday afternoon, such was the great demand. The hackmen have nothing to say against the present hot weather.

FOR THE NORTH.—The Barbara Boscowitz will leave at ten o'clock to-day for Skeena river and way ports. There are few passengers and very little freight this trip.

FOR THE EAST.—A large number of people are lately moving eastward over the Northern Pacific. Yesterday Mr. Robt. Irving fitted out a couple of parties by this popular route for New York and Boston.

LOCAL BRIDGE WORK.—The C. P. R. R. company has ordered five large 150 foot spans 54 tons each to be built by the Albion Iron works, intended for their new extensions.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.—Dr. Wm. Jackson of this city, Dominion inspecting physician for Victoria, has been appointed a justice of the peace by the Dominion government.

Municipal Police Court.

[Before Mr. Edwin Johnson, S. M.]

The following persons were arraigned before Mr. Edwin Johnson, S. M., yesterday with being drunk: Charles Johnson, Hugh Burke, John E. Mallory, John Farrel, Mrs. Nelson, Emily George and Jennie Saunders. Pleading guilty they were fined $5 each.

Harry, an Indian, who works about the steamer docks, was found guilty of furnishing intoxicating liquor to an Indian girl known as Annie. Being an Indian he was given the light fine of $25.

Emerson Robson, who appeared before the court last Saturday on a charge of stealing $20 from Hugh McCauley, was given an opportunity to procure two sureties in $100 each, and $200 for himself, or be committed in default for trial before the superior court.

INDIA RUBBER.

A NEW SOURCE OF SUPPLY DISCOVERED IN SOUTH AMERICA.

A New Method of Coagulating the Juice—The Rubber Industry in Brazil—The Tremendous Demand Constantly on the Increase.

[Chicago Times.]

During the past twenty-five years the demand for India rubber has been constantly increasing. The amount required for car springs has been enormous. Rubber shoes are now worn by people of all classes. Most men exposed to the snow and rain wear rubber boots. A kind of rubber shoe has been made expressly for protecting the boots made of belted wool, that are now so popular with lumbermen and others who work in the cold. Rubber is now an ingredient in various kinds of paint. Every woman has a waterproof cloak, and many men have waterproof coats. A complete suit of waterproof garments from cap to shoes, can be obtained from any dealer in rubber clothing. The number and variety of articles now kept in rubber stores surprises a person who visits one for the first time. They embrace almost everything that is manufactured for ornament or use. The number of rubber toys is almost endless. Nearly every article that was once manufactured from bone, horn, wood or metal is now made from rubber. From infancy to old age, during sickness and health, we are constantly using rubber in some form. Goodyear endowed it with new properties, and made it subserve purposes for which it could not be used in its natural state, while Mackintosh rendered it soluble, so that it could be incorporated in the fiber of cloth and other substances.

The many uses to which rubber has been applied during the past forty years has caused its price to advance in all parts of the world where it is obtained. The natives of Brazil, from which most of the best rubber is obtained, once wasted most of the product of the rubber forests. Of late years they have relied on the money they obtained from it for their support. Our consul at Para states that 88 per cent. of the exports from the valley of the Amazon consists of rubber. The inhabitants neglect all other industries for collecting rubber. With the finest pastures in the world, they eat jerked beef from the Argentine Republic and canned meats from the United States. With vast supplies of excellent fish, which are easily caught, they eat immense quantities of salt cod smoked herrings obtained from northern countries. With dense forests of the most valuable sorts of wood they import their furniture and most of their building materials. Not many months ago the price of crude rubber was 85 cents per pound at Para, and the average inhabitant could supply his wants by working one day a week in the rubber forests. Recently the price has declined, and the price now paid by the merchants of Para is only 32 cents per pound. In consequence of this decline many are seeking new means of obtaining a living.

A few years ago there was considerable alarm over the report that the sources of the supply of rubber were failing. The governments of several European countries instructed their agents abroad to ascertain what measures could be resorted to for the purpose of keeping the market supplied with rubber, which had become of so much value in the arts. It now seems likely that rubber is to become more plenty, and that the price will be lower than it has been at any time since the article came into general use. A new method of coagulating the juice without the employment of smoke is reported from Brazil. It is the invention of Antonio Bentes, of that country. A new source of supply has also been discovered in a tree from which rubber has not been obtained. A knowledge of it was obtained by our consul at Rio Janeiro from S. S. Schindler, who resides at Campinas, in the province of San Paulo. This communication, which has been transmitted to Washington, is as follows:

"The mangaba or mangabeira, as it is called in Brazil, is a tree of medium size belonging to the apocynaca. It presents a graceful appearance, something like the weeping willow, with drooping branches and small oblong-shaped leaves of a glossy dark green, finely marked, and having a sharp rounded point at the apex. This tree yields an excellent rubber, but up to a few months ago, before my coming to this province, it was only esteemed on account of its fruit, which possesses a fine aroma, a delicious taste, and makes a preserve which is a great favorite with the Brazilians. This fruit is about the size of a large plum, of a yellowish color, marked with reddish spots or streaks. It is only fit to be eaten when it falls from the tree, as it is then perfectly ripe. The mangabeira has therefore the double advantage of bearing fruit which can be exported, and of yielding a valuable rubber. The inhabitants of this province of San Paulo are just beginning to realize the the vast stores of undeveloped wealth existing in their vast plains, and a fine quality of rubber will be exported which will soon rival that of Para in quality, if not in quantity.

"The process of extracting milk from the mangabeira tree is very simple, and possesses great advantage over the seringueiras of Para, as it is met with in large quantities in the most healthy localities. It flourishes only in sandy soil, and is therefore only encountered in unproductive land unfit for the ordinary purposes of agriculture. When the milk is about to be collected, each person must be supplied with about twenty large round tins as well as a large knife (facao). He should make oblique incisions in the tree, sloping downwards at a little distance from each other, all around the trunk, cutting only the outer bark, and placing immediately on the ground below the cuts a basin or large tin which will collect the milk as it exudes. When full these tins can be emptied into a larger vessel. The same process is continued during the whole day, each person treating from ten to fifteen trees or more in this manner, and thus from five to eight kilos of milk can be collected. The incisions should not be deep, and a great number should not be made on the same tree, as they may weaken or kill it, as has so frequently occurred with the seringueira, the rubber of Para."

Had No Stereotyped Story.

[Louis J. Jennings' Letter.]

In the most solitary part of Blackdown moor or heath stands Mr. Tennyson's house. I had driven to Blackdown to save time, and the coachman told me that he had no doubt I could go round and look at the house. I asked if the family were there. "Oh, yes," said the driver, "but never mind. The old gentleman does not like to see strangers about his place, but he won't say anything to you. In fact, he seldom speaks to anybody, but goes walking about with his head down. Writes books I believe—not that I've read 'em. Something about poetry, ain't they, sir?"

Four Times Around the Earth.

[Exchange.]

A printer on The Erie (Pa.) Herald, known as "Father Quinn," has in a long life set, it is estimated, type enough to weigh 187,700 pounds, or ninety-four tons, which this old man has lifted piece by piece in the specified time. In setting type the average distance the hand travels is a foot and a half or thereabouts. Consequently his hand has traveled 516,000,000 feet, or a matter of 97,727 miles, or within a few hundred feet of being four times the circumference of the earth.

The World's Industrial and Cotton Exposition.

NEW ORLEANS, May 29, 1885.

To Mr. Louis Grunewald, New Orleans, (agent of Messrs. Steinway & Sons, New York): Dear Sir—In making our official report as jurors of group 8, class 808, on musical instruments, we deeply regretted the fact of being debarred to express our opinion on the exquisite display of several magnificent Steinway Pianos at your beautiful exhibit at our exposition; but as they were not entered for competition, and only for exhibition, we had to abide by our instructions and ignore them as well as other makers for above reasons.

As professional artists, however, we feel it our sacred duty to express to you, unsolicited, our great admiration for the Steinway Pianos, which we consider the "Beau Ideal" of a perfect instrument, combining in its great mechanical construction all those eminent qualities of touch, sympathetic and singing qualities of tone, brilliancy, power, etc., which render them more than dear to any artist or amateur who loves music as produced on any of these wonderful and, we think unsurpassed pianos.

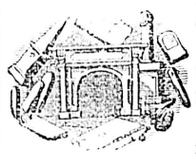

Had the "Steinways" been entered for competition, our work, in place of being anything but easy and pleasant, would have become a labor of love, and instantaneously resulted in our conferring the "highest awards" possible to the Steinways. We write this after having individually expressed ourselves in mutual conversation, and tender this as a tribute to a firm which has done so much to elevate true musical art in this country, and which has the good fortune to be represented in our section by you, Mr. Grunewald, to whom we beg to tender our assurances of personal esteem and best wishes for future success.

Very respectfully and fraternally,

E. RICHARD,
H. JOUBERT,
G. D'AQUIN,
WM. H. PILCHER
